

Feedback from our summer concert 2025: Opera Choruses

Yesterday's programme was so much fun to learn and sing. My friends thoroughly enjoyed the concert. We all thought the soloists were fantastic – as singers and actors! I really appreciate the efforts of everyone who makes each concert a success – Mark, Aeron, the committee, and everyone who helps on the day.

Had I known how much lovely music was going on just down the road, I would have joined this choir sooner!

An interesting mix of items, I thought the choir sang well and the soloists were very good. As was the pianist, how quickly he can move his fingers! So, congratulations to all. Have a good summer and get up your strength for The Creation, a very different evening!

We had a good number of friends who attended the concert, and they were all absolutely delighted with it. Really impressed by the Chorale. Lots of compliments all round!
See you tomorrow evening

What an amazing concert! This was a really enjoyable sing with a great programme of music exploring a wide variety of material from the world of opera: from the glorious and passionate, fun parties, serious and formal to the ridiculous patter!
It was an immense privilege to sing with such accomplished artists from the world of opera. They brought and shared their great talent and professionalism, and inspired us to sing to our best.

Mark has enthused and inspired us through his clear love of opera and guided us through the challenge of singing in 3 languages, which was quite a task for some of us! It was well worth the extra work required to get our tongues around this, and I felt rewarded with a tremendous performance. Well done everyone!

My audience thought we gave very nice performances in the Bell Chorus the Libiamo and the Carmen. Brindisi was also done well.

Re. Soloists they particularly rated the Purcell by Katie Stevenson.

They were somewhat less convinced by the G&S, just because they felt it didn't entirely fit with a large choir.

But overall, felt it was an enjoyable concert, well suited to a summer evening.

I have attached my concert feedback and have also sent it to Sally via Gmail. Wasn't the concert fun?!

See you tomorrow, Jaki
